Summary

In my 11 years as a creative professional I've worked in myriad capacities; small creative studios, freelance, large design agencies, even in-house at one of the worlds largest tech companies. I find joy equally in mentoring designers, directing creative, pushing pixels, nudging keyframes, or pulling vectors. I'm looking forward to joining an energetic team and applying my unique, brand-focused point of view to solving large creative problems on and off the screen.
